ARE YOUR POULTRY FIT TO LOAD?

Before poultry are loaded, ensure that you complete this checklist.

Remember that it is your responsibility to ensure poultry are fit to load and fit for the intended journey before they are loaded.

The bird;

- can walk on its own by bearing weight on both legs
- is free from visible signs of severe injury or distress or conditions likely to further compromise its welfare during transport e.g. broken legs, injuries to head or swollen eyes
- is strong enough to make the journey (e.g. not dehydrated or emaciated)
- has had access to water within the past 24 hours

if all boxes are ticked, the bird is fit to load

if one or more boxes are unticked, the bird is NOT fit to load.

You therefore need to either;

- provide appropriate treatment for poultry and transport when recovered and is fit to load
- humanely destroy the animal
- consult a veterinarian and then transport only under veterinary supervision

Under the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals Act 1986, it is an offence to sell, offer for sale, purchase, drive or convey an animal that appears to be unfit (because of weakness, emaciation, injury or disease)

Containers should be a suitable size and height for the bird, below is a table showing the maximum number of birds and minimum space allowances for bird types;

Bird type	Maximum per crate 2500 cm ² e.g. 50 cm width x 50 cm length	Minimum height of crate
Chickens, ducks and geese below 1.5 kg	10	25 cm
Mature chickens, ducks and geese below 3 kg	Approximately 7 depending on body weight	25 cm
Turkeys, ducks and geese above 3 kg	Approximately 5 depending on body weight	32 cm
Adult pigeons or squabs	12	21 cm

Birds must not be carried, held or transported in the boot of a sedan car.
